Meet Jen Ray

Professional Artist and Creative Business Mentor

Jen is an artist and visual arts instructor from Southern California. Nature deeply inspires her artwork, and her current explorations center around botanicals, animals and the intricate bond women share with the natural world and its juxtaposition against contemporary society. Jen photographs many of her subjects and uses acrylic, watercolor, gouache and Adobe Illustrator to create her art and designs. Throughout her career, she has delved deeply into design, color, and branding, including owning a multi-million-dollar corporate marketing company. Holding dual B.A.s from Claremont McKenna College and having enriched her expertise at UCLA and in Florence Italy, she transitioned from corporate branding for tech giants in Silicon Valley to full-time artist and visual arts educator.
